Asks Increase Cotton Acreage and Supports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Thomas G. Abernethy, D-Miss., has called for increases in the national acreage allotment and price support level for next year's cotton crop.

A member of the House Agricultural Committee, Abernethy made the appeal Thursday in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. "It is my judgment that the situation justifies a substantial increase in the national acreage allotment for 1961 as well as an upward adjustment in price support," Abernethy wrote.

"As to the latter, I can see nothing in the situation that would justify a drop in price support to 70 per cent of parity minimum."

Abernethy suggested setting the acreage allotment at 17,500,000 to 18,000,000 acres, as compared with the present 16,310,000 acres.

He mentioned no specific figure for the price support level. Farmers who stay within their allotment now receive 75 per cent of parity from the government for cotton.

Abernethy said the secretary, under the law, could permit the 1961 support price to drop to the 70 per cent of parity level.

He added that a marked reduction could come from a switch in the standards used for calculating price supports on each staple and grade.

"I am not making a selfish appeal. My recommendations are made entirely on merit and are justified by the facts as I see them," Abernethy said.

"Cotton farmers have taken their cuts in acreage and price with a minimum of grumbling and at great financial sacrifice. They have met the threat of synthetic fibers and have substantially reduced the surplus stocks."

The cotton situation is now quite favorable. Farmers are entitled to reap the benefits thereof in the way of more acres and a better price. The secretary has full discretion under the law as to both price and acreage. I hope he will resolve it in favor of our farmers, and I am inclined to believe that he will."

Soviet Subs Spotted in N. Atlantic

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy has spotted a Soviet submarine—and maybe two—lurking about in the North Atlantic near two Soviet ships that have been stationed there for several days.

The sub was seen twice at different times, or else there are two of them. What the Soviet tanker and tug are doing in the area off Newfoundland's Grand Banks is not known.

The Navy said Thursday night that a Neptune patrol plane made radar contact with a submarine four miles from the Soviet tanker Kokand about midnight Tuesday. The Navy plane switched on a powerful searchlight and sighted a heavy wake left by a submerging sub, which sank out of sight as the plane passed over.

Some 5½ hours later, the U.S. patrol plane saw a submarine snorkel sticking up from the water 10 miles astern of the tanker. A Soviet helicopter, which had previously been sent on the deck of the tanker, was hovering above the spot. The submarine dived when the American plane approached. The Navy said the two incidents, and other unidentified contacts in the area, "lead to the conclusion that there probably are two submarines operated with a Soviet tug and tanker."

The presence of the two surface ships, both heavily equipped with electronic devices, had started speculation that they had something to do with some spectacular space experiment the Soviet Union might try to bring off while Premier Nikita Khrushchev is at the United Nations session in New York.

The presence of a submarine, however, does not seem to fit in with this theory.

Injunction on Railway Union

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—Judge Otis T. Dunagan today placed the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen under a temporary injunction to prevent the union from striking on the Cotton Belt Line.

The Brotherhood called a strike earlier this year in a dispute over which union would perform switching duties in a Fort Worth yard.

The union already was under a temporary restraining order which prevented a six-state walk-out.

The temporary injunction is the next legal step leading to a permanent injunction.

Union attorneys said they would appeal today's decision to the state appeals court at Texarkana.

First Debate Is on October 7

NEW YORK (AP)—A National Broadcasting Co. spokesman said today he is 95 per cent certain the Oct. 7 debate between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy will be televised in Cleveland, Ohio, instead of New York City as originally planned.

William McAndrew, NBC vice president, said network personnel have started making surveys of the technical problems involved.

The Columbia Broadcasting System, the American Broadcasting Co. and the all-radio Mutual Broadcasting System are covering the debates in a joint operation with NBC.

McAndrew said he understood the reason for the switch to Cleveland to be the convenience of the two presidential candidates. Both Nixon, the Republican nominee, and Kennedy, his Democratic opponent, will be in the Midwest at the time, he said.

Mills Wants Revision of U. S. Taxes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., still has hopes of pushing a major revision of federal taxing structures through Congress.

Mills, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, has been a long-time champion of tax reform. He said in an interview today that new reform efforts would be pursued when Congress meets again next year.

Mills said the work of the Ways and Means Committee cannot be properly plotted until after the November election.

"It would be premature to undertake something without the benefit of the thinking of the administration," Mills said.

"Regardless of which way the election goes, we will have a new administration."

Mills said the committee definitely will have to take another long-range look at financing problems of the interstate highway program sometime next year.

A crash program of extra financing for highways expires June 30, 1961. "We'll have to look at the progress of the work then," Mills said.

Reports $8,500 Taken

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Thomas A. Fuzzell, whose husband operates an amusement park, said more than $3,500 in cash and some $5,000 in checks was stolen from her parked automobile outside a bowling alley late last night or early today.

The thieves broke a window to get into the car, she told police.

Guy Jones Refuses to Resign Post

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—State Sen. Guy Jones doesn't agree with an attorney general's ruling that he can't legally serve as chairman of the Faulkner County Democratic Committee.

Jones agreed with Asst. Atty. Gen. John T. Haskins' opinion that state law prohibits elected officials from holding membership on party committees.

"But as chairman of the committee, I'm not properly a member of it," Jones said, citing a party rule which permits non-members to be elected to committee offices.

The senator said he has no intention of stepping down from his committee post nor of resigning from the Senate before his term expires in January.

Jones was defeated in his bid for re-election in the July primary.

Living Cost Levels Off in August

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs leveled off in August after rising steadily but slowly since January, the Labor Department reported today.

The consumer price index compiled by the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics was unchanged last month at 126.6. This meant prices were 26.6 per cent higher than the average for 1947-49, the base years for the index.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, indicated he looks for an upward movement in prices this month and can foresee no substantial downward movement in the next few years.

Move UN, Eliminate Nikita Proposes to Secretary General

Reaction to Speech by Eisenhower

By DENNIS NEED

LONDON (AP) — President Eisenhower's speech to the U.N. General Assembly brought the American leader both applause and brickbats in Western Europe today.

Many commentators saw his address as a blunt challenge to the Soviet Union to throw its weight behind the United Nations in the cause of easing world tensions.

But Eisenhower also drew a measure of criticism for not including some startling new proposal.

On the Communist side of the iron curtain the President's words were received with predictable sourness.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, accused Eisenhower of "virtually burying the idea of total and general disarmament" by stressing control rather than immediate measures for reducing arms.

The speech won big banner headlines everywhere, however.

Even Tass carried a 600-word summary of the speech.

In London, a screamer on the front page of the liberal News Chronicle called the address "like the finest hour and even rivals it."

From the U.N. rostrum Eisenhower flung challenge after challenge at Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

"But they were all challenges in the name of peace," said the Chronicle.

British Labor leader Hugh Gaitskill called the speech "important and constructive."

The Laborite Daily Herald said: "America made the most impressive bid it has ever made to bring peace. President Eisenhower's speech to the U.N. was the West's challenge to Russia to throw its immense power behind the U.N. to create a more hopeful world."

London's Conservative Daily Telegraph took the opposite tack. "Like misses the boat," it headlined.

"This 4,500 word, 40 minute speech was nervous and faltering, and contained not a single new proposal to break the East-West deadlock."

In Denmark there were headlines like "strongest U.N. address so far by Eisenhower."

Little Damage in Handle Mill Fire

Fire in a dry kiln in the ash mill division of Bruner Ivory Handle Co. late yesterday resulted in very little damage, the Hope Fire Department reported. The alarm was turned in at 8:10 p. m. and by the time two fire trucks arrived the firm's sprinkler system had things fairly well under control. Firemen stood by and made sure the fire was completely out.

The blaze was believed to have started from a spark which caught the sawdust on the kiln's floor. An unofficial estimate placed the damage at $100.

Red China's UN Bid Will Again Fail

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Red China's perennial bid for a U.N. seat appeared headed for another flat rebuff in the powerful steering committee today despite Communist efforts.

The United States was expected to call on the committee to shelve the explosive seating issue for another year, and thus avoid a long, bitter debate in the 96-nation General Assembly.

Observers predicted only seven members of the 21-nation steering group would oppose sidetracking the question. Those understood to oppose bypassing debate on the seating issue were the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Romania, Ceylon, Yugoslavia, Iraq and Ireland.

India has spearheaded the seat-holding move in recent years, but with the bitter Chinese-Indian border dispute still unsettled, she has stepped aside and let the Soviet Union do the spadework.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said on the eve of his departure from Moscow that Red China should have the seat now held by the Nationalists. But with Moscow embroiled in an ideological squabble with the Communist Chinese, the Soviets are reported not too enthusiastic about pushing Peking's cause in the U.N.

If defeated in the steering committee, the Communists are expected to wage a fight to overturn the decision when the agenda goes before the Assembly for approval, but diplomats expressed doubt if the Reds have enough strength to win out.

In Between He Offers Plan for Disarmament

By RELMAN MORIN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev proposed today to move the United Nations out of New York, shake up its organization, and eliminate the office of secretary general.

He also denounced President Eisenhower as risking World War III in the U2 plane incident of last May, demanded immediate independence of all colonial areas, proposed a three-stage disarmament plan looking toward what Khrushchev calls complete and general disarmament, and repeated a demand for a new summit conference "in a few months time" apparently to discuss the future of West Berlin with the U.S. president and the French and British heads of government.

Khrushchev's proposal to revise the United Nations came only a day after President Eisenhower had pleaded with this historic 15th U.N. General Assembly session to use the world organization to clear all dangerous disputes.

The Soviet leader proposed a three-man executive body to guide the United Nations, in which the West, the Soviet bloc and the neutral powers would share equally in control. This would replace the post of secretary-general now held by Sweden's Dag Hammarskjöld, who has been under heavy Soviet attack.

Khrushchev dropped the proposals into the hopper in what was developing as a showdown duel of personal diplomacy between him and the U.S. President. He denounced President Eisenhower by name in his remarks concerning the U2 incident.

After broaching his disarmament plans and his proposals on colonial areas, the Soviet leader launched into a bitter attack on the President on the basis of the U2 spy plane incident of last May, which preceded the blowup of the Paris summit conference.

He said the plane incident was particularly significant because President Eisenhower "himself declared the aggressive flights of the American planes a normal business allegedly necessary for the security of the United States."

"At the same time," said Khrushchev, "the U.S. government arbitrarily assumed the right to send such planes in the future. This is why, since the matter concerns the violation of the sovereign rights of not only the Soviet Union but of other states as well, the question of the aggressive actions of the United States must be dealt with by the United Nations at its plenary session."

"The continuation of such actions and especially their interpretation by the U.S. President as a state policy can at any moment plunge mankind into a third world war."

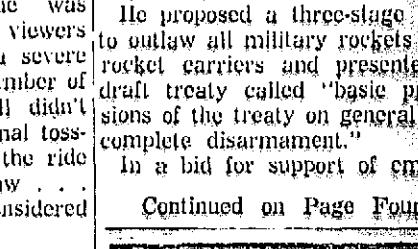

"Therefore I repeat, it is the opinion of the Soviet government that this question, as well as the questions of disarmament and the elimination of colonialism must be discussed at the plenary session."

Khrushchev proposed establishment of a new disarmament body in which neutral and uncommitted nations would be represented, apparently discarding the 10-nation Communist-Western disarmament commission.

He proposed a three-stage plan to outlaw all military rockets and rocket carriers and presented a draft treaty called "basic provisions of the treaty on general and complete disarmament."

Small Arkansas Industries... Set Pace For Nation

In a unique counseling venture, a cross-section of Arkansas home owned and operated industries, their bankers and state leaders recently attended a conference at Winrock Farms, Morrilton.

The one-day conference, sponsored by the University of Arkansas, the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, the First Arkansas Development Finance Corporation, the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration through a $40,000 grant to the University by the SBA, attracted native industrialists and their bankers from all sections of the state.

The conferees were afforded information vital to expansion of their businesses by experts in law, accounting, management and banking.

Many of the Arkansas businessmen also found time to "swap" ideas as evidenced by the pictures above.

Some of the conferees attending this "first of its kind in the nation" meeting were:

(1) J. C. Alexander, Jr., Merchants National Bank (1) and Leon L. Dutcher, Tooling Unlimited, both of Fort Smith.

Luckier Than She Knows

Dear Helen:
We have three sons who are married. Two of our daughters-in-law love very much. The third gives us the cold shoulder. We can't understand why. She was raised by wonderful parents. They like us and we them. It breaks our hearts for her to treat us as she does. She and our son have college degrees. The others only high school educations. She is active in church work and seemed to think so much of us before she married. Now she goes into another room and reads a book if we come visiting. We are never asked to stay for a meal. It's getting to the point where we don't go any more. That is hard on our boy. We have never made any difference in our children. If anything, we've helped this daughter-in-law and son more than the rest. —Broken-Hearted In-Laws

Dear Broken-Hearted In-Laws: Be thankful for the two daughters-in-law who do love you. As for the third, let her alone. Given time, she may come to her senses. The very fact that you have helped her husband may be the root of the trouble. Few can accept help gracefully. It deflates their ego.

Dear Helen:
My mother is 40 years old, pretty, and looks not a day over 22. She and my father are divorced. My boy friend is 17 years old. I am very much in love with him. For the past three weeks I have been suspicious of them both. Anyway, my Mom said she was going to the show one night. I followed her for two blocks, saw her meet my boy friend and ride away. She got in about three a.m. please help me. What should I do? —M.A.

Dear M.A.: Your mother by her inability to act her age, is playing the child, you the adult. Seeing it in this light will make a very difficult problem, easier to handle. First ask yourself if, knowing the truth, you still love your mother and boy friend.

Even if you still do, here is a situation which calls for righteous anger. Next time you three are together, tell them so. It won't be easy if they are remorseful, and only you can be the judge of that. Say you are willing to go on as before. But if they are not, then no matter what the cost in heartache, put this boy out of your life. Treat your mother as a recalcitrant child. Deliberately go about laying plans for a future without these two. Accept the fact that your stand alone. It's a hard lesson to learn early in life, but a good one.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine, c/o sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "The Ideal Wife."

THE EASTER DINNER
BY DONALD DOWNES

(THE STORY: The time is 1944, when American troops are advancing on Rome. An Italian bricklayer, Ciccio, working for the underground, is involved in attempting to steal a brief case from a German officer....)

Chapter I
The big entrance door below Folice's window swung open with a dismal groan. By the dim blue light of the blackout bulb in the entrance hall, Ciccio and Livio could make out the broad form of the German, the white dog beside him, and the reflections of blue light from the polished leather of the brief case in his left hand, which he slowly lifted in what seemed a gesture of offering but was actually an attempt to feel if it were still as floral decorations.

This was primarily a business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Lamar Cox. Mrs. Emmett Wassell was welcomed as a new member of the club. The hostess served cake squares, cold drinks, and coffee during the refreshment hour.

Mrs. Talbot Feild, Jr., Hostess to Azalea Garden Club

The Azalea Garden Club had its meeting on September 22 in the home of Mrs. Talbot Feild, Jr. She used beautiful roses in her home as floral decorations.

Mrs. Joan Greer Entertained With Birthday Party
Mrs. Bill Greer entertained with a party for her daughter, Joan on September 22 in celebration of the honoree's 5th birthday. The party was held at the Greer home.

Caps, whistles, gum and balloons were given as favors. After the boys and girls enjoyed playing games in the afternoon they gathered to sing "Happy Birthday" to the Birthday Girl, who was the recipient of many nice gifts.

Mrs. Clarence Geist assisted the hostess in serving pink Birthday cake, ice cream and limeade to 16.

Coming and Going
Mr. and Mrs. Cline Franks returned home Thursday from Dallas, Texas, where she has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jim Robertson.

Mrs. Alice Roach is attending a weekend meeting for the general agents of the First National Life Ins. Co. in Memphis, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Rogers of DeQueen were visitors Thursday to Mrs. Lelia Pickard and Kathy.

Mrs. W. W. Duckett will have as weekend guests Mrs. B. C. Bates, Mrs. T. E. Toland, Mrs. Nadine Paucher, and Mrs. B. E. Newton, all of Little Rock.

Births
Mr. and Mrs. John W. Walthall of Tyler, Texas announces the arrival of a daughter, Doreen, on Friday, Sept. 17 at the Medical Center Hospital in Tyler. She weighed 7 lbs. 14 ozs. Mrs. Walthall will be remembered as the former Dorothy Whitten. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Whitten, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walthall of Garland, Texas.

Separation Wall Between Church, State

BY JULES LOH

NEW YORK (AP) — Thomas Jefferson once penned an informal note to a religious group which contained the phrase "wall of separation between church and state."

In the 150 years that followed, the phrase has become so woven into political-religious discussion it long ago lost its quotation marks.

Seldom has the relationship between church and state commanded more attention than the present day, which makes timely an examination of Jefferson's metaphorical remark and of the country's laws on the matter.

"The Constitution contains two reference to religion: Article VI, which provides that "No religious test shall ever be required as a qualification for any office or public trust;" and the First Amendment which declares "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

Both clauses emerged after no little debate. The First Amendment was offered in six different versions before the final wording was agreed on.

Nine of the 13 states at the time of the Revolution had full-fledged state churches (Congregational or Anglican), and at the time the First Amendment was drafted Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Maryland and South Carolina still had them. The first piece of legislation providing for equality and freedom of religion in America was passed by Lord Baltimore's Catholic colony in Maryland in 1649.

"This 'Act Concerning Religion' in the Messaggero to make things look right. Somehow we'll get him to you before long."

He had been sitting at his desk in the study, frequently referring to an Italian-German dictionary, for nearly two hours, when Paolo Macdougall arrived.

"I have something really exciting for you, Paolo. In two pieces. But like a jigsaw puzzle they fit perfectly."

They sat down side by side. "At Cinecitta the Germans are building tanks of wood around light trucks. Everything is wood, including the cannons. Now that's interesting, because..."

"It certainly is! It must mean they're planning a feint, a false attack, somewhere, to cover a real attack someplace else."

"That's right. And now I have the proof of exactly where they're going to use them. Look!" He put before them on the desk the German order and its translation. "I'd better read it to you."

"Go ahead."

"To the Kommandatur, Cinecitta. By the way, it's dated yesterday—the 23rd of February. The completion of the dummies must be rushed for delivery after dark the 28th of February in the town of Cisterna. They can in no event leave Cinecitta before sundown, and they must be in Cisterna two hours before sunrise. Send them in groups of four and five, insofar as is possible by secondary roads. Avoid passing through towns, especially Albano, Genzano and Velletri. Let they be observed and reported."

"A phony attack with wooden tanks below Cisterna at the south of the beachhead front would draw all the Allied reserves down there, and the real German attack will then come in the north. A nice plan. Evidently scheduled for the 28th of February. It's a pity we can't get these papers back to their owner before he misses them."

"Then you think it's of some real value?" Luciano asked. "Yes, I do, indeed. I think it's by far the most important piece of information you and I have gathered."

New Congo Strongman Hints Threat

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congo strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu has not far from a veiled threat to take action unless the U. N. command withdraws troops of China and Guinea.

The 30,000 military ruler charged these African troops, who have been protecting deposed President Patrice Lumumba, with meddling in Congo internal affairs.

Mobutu warned that if the Chinese and Guinean troops are not pulled out of the Congo "it will become a problem for our general staff." He did not elaborate.

China has about 2,500 troops in the U. N. task force. Guineans about 600.

(Chadian President Kwame Nkrumah said on arrival in New York Wednesday night for the U. N. General Assembly that he had not heard of Mobutu's demand. Nkrumah emphasized that he still regarded Lumumba as the legitimate premier of the Congo.)

Mobutu, who proclaimed a form of military rule a week ago, has been frustrated by Guinean and Chadian forces from taking Lumumba into custody.

U. N. officials apparently feel they would be open to Communist charges of partisanship if they allowed Lumumba to be turned over to Mobutu.

When Mobutu announced he was "neutralizing" the politicians, Lumumba ran for cover and was believed to have been given refuge by the Guinean diplomatic mission.

Emerging from his hideout last weekend, Lumumba moved back into his old official residence, the head of a shield of Guinean troops and began issuing orders.

But Mobutu appeared in command, supported by the bulk of the Congolese army.

Lumumba was believed to have given up his attempt to get to New York to present his case to the U. N. General Assembly. A U. S. Embassy spokesman said Lumumba aides inquired three days ago about getting visas. They were told to submit their passports to the embassy but have not done so.

We wish to thank the many friends who were so kind to us during our recent time of sorrow.

We are especially grateful to Dr. Branch and his staff.

HEALTH HINTS

By DR. CHARLES JOHNSON "CHIROPRACTOR"

Injury To Spine Is Like Blitzkrieg

The spinal cord is like a telephone cable only more complex than any ever devised by man. Nature considers this structure so important that she encases it in sections of bone known as vertebrae, and the all-important control, the brain, in a shell of bone.

Four hundred and fifty trillion individual nerve wires composing the spinal cord carry a constant stream of messages between the brain and all parts of the body. All function in the body is coordinated and controlled by these messages sent from the brain.

The first aim of a "blitzkrieg" is to disrupt communication systems, thus throwing the enemy into a state of turmoil and lowering their resistance. Injury to the spine likewise upsets the delicate communication systems, disrupting function in the body, and exposing it to disease. Chiropractic deals with nerves. Investigate what it can do for your health.

ing and developing nations, the Soviet leader urged complete independence immediately for all dependent areas.

Khrushchev warned that the fall of colonialism either will be peaceful or "accompanied by dangerous gambles by the supporters of colonialism who clutch at extreme measures."

"The events in the Congo are a fresh reminder of existing dangers," Khrushchev said. The Soviet Union has just suffered a diplomatic setback in the Congo and has clashed with the Asian-African nations on that issue.

Khrushchev's disarmament proposals were spelled out in documents distributed before he spoke, and he called the assembly's attention to those documents.

The proposals were circulated a day after President Eisenhower's challenging address asking the Soviet Union to use the U.N. as the main clearing house for disposal of perilous issues.

The plan also called for the elimination of all foreign military bases during the initial period. In the past, this has been one of the stumbling blocks, since the Western powers insist they must maintain such bases until strict international controls are in effect.

Khrushchev proposed that the first stage should couple nuclear disarmament with conventional armaments.

The Soviet leader again proposed international controls but he failed to spell out what measures the Soviet Union would accept.

He declared: "It is high time to put an end to maneuverings and delays. The solution of the disarmament problem cannot be postponed any longer. The elaboration of a treaty on general and complete disarmament cannot be put off any more."

Bobcats Travel to Smackover for Dist. Tilt

By VINCE FOSTER
Hope Star Sports Writer

The Hope Bobcats will travel to Smackover tonight for their first AA contest. The Bobcats are the underdogs but they seem to really want this game. The Smackover Buckaroos will be ready and full of fight since they dropped their first two games 33-0 and 20-6 to El Dorado and Fairview of Camden. The Buckaroos, who won the Camden 4AA jamboree, were favored to take the district this year, but they lost their first 4AA game to Fairview last week. The Bucks are aware they will have to win this game to stay in the running for the district title, and they are really up for this game. Just as last week Smackover will be playing without the services of their regular halfbacks Bob Burnett and Jim Lewis, who were injured in the El Dorado game. The Buckaroos were rated eighth in the state and second in AA at the first of the season, but they have been dropped out of the best dozen in both divisions.

Smackover has an outstanding backfield, led by a 202 pound fullback, Joe Black, and Parks, a 185 pound quarterback. Parks is an excellent passer, and his favorite receivers are Agee and Honea. The Bucks, also, have a very hard-charging line, led by Byrd, a 220 pound tackle, and Dopsan, a 175 pound center. The Buckaroos will be hard to stop and this game will be a good test for the Bobcats.

Hope will be depending on FB Joe Matt Herndon and HB Joe Duke to knock holes in the tough Buckaroo defense. The Bobcats will be without regulars Compton and Kitchens, who will both probably be out for the season, and this could very well hurt the big Cats. Tackle Phillip Gilliam will be handicapped with an injured arm. Hope is still rated tenth in AA ball and would like to up this rating.

Coach John Pierce said the boys were not mentally up to this game, but he also commented, "We are not going to give away this game as we did last year."

A busload of students are traveling to Smackover to boost the Bobcats, and the support of many fans could make the difference in this rating.

This Could Be The Day for Pittsburgh

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

This could be the day Pittsburgh has awaited for 33 years. This is the day the Pirates could win the National League pennant, their first since the 1927 Cubs won on the next to last day of the season. Those Pirates of 33 years ago did it with a 9-6 decision at Cincinnati, clinching the flag with their 9th victory while the second place St. Louis Cardinals were idle.

Now, with the Cardinals again in second place, the Pirates' magic number is down to two after sweeping a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 3-2 and 6-1, in the only games scheduled in the majors Thursday.

That sweep, eliminating third place Milwaukee, set up today's chance to nail the pennant—if the Pirates can parlay a victory at Milwaukee tonight with a Cardinal split in an afternoon doubleheader at Chicago.

If the Cubs take two from the Cards, the Pirates will be champs when they take the field against the Braves.

No matter what the Cardinals do—even if they should sweep their 10 remaining games—the Pirates can clinch by winning just two of the seven they have left.

That would set up the October 5 opener of the World Series at Pittsburgh's Forbes Field against the New York Yankees—who aren't quite as close to packing away the American League flag, but who could do it in a three-game weekend set at Boston. The Yankees—whose 1927 crew walked off the Pirates four straight in the 1927 World Series—have their magic number down to five over second place Chicago and four over third place Baltimore.

The Pirates, with an 11-5 season bulge over the Braves and a 5-3 mark at Milwaukee, send right-hander Red Witt (1-1) against right-hander Bob Buhl (14-9), who is 2-1 against the Cubs.

Don Hoak and pinch-hitter Gene Baker wrapped up the Pirates' sweep over the Cubs. Baker's bases-loaded, one-out single won the 11-inning opener. Hoak, who was 2-for-4 in each game and triggered the first game rally with a single, lined a three-run double as the Cubs came from behind with five runs in the third inning of the nightcap.

Eloy Fierro (10-7) was the first game winner. Pitching two innings of two-hit relief after Vern Law gave way to a pinch-hitter in a bid for his 21st victory. The two right-handers shut out the Cubs on three hits over the last seven innings.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell (13-8) beat the Cubs in the second game. Don Cardwell and Bob Anderson were the losers.

Yank, Boston Series Could Wrap It Up

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees, once more the big team in the American League, open a three-game series at Boston tonight with a chance to wrap up their 25th pennant. And they couldn't pick a better place to do it.

It was at Fenway Park last year that the Red Sox swept a five-game series in mid-July knocking the Yankees out of the 1959 race and sending the defending world champions to a third place finish.

Now the Yankees, who have won six in a row and 10 of their last 12, could nail the payoff on their way to come back. They go into Fenway against the seventh place Red Sox with nine games left. They need to win five of those to clinch the pennant—no matter what the second place White Sox or third place Baltimore Orioles do. The White Sox, who trail by 4½, have eight games remaining. Baltimore, behind by five, has seven left.

Any combination of Yank victories and White Sox defeats totaling five could send New York into the World Series against the Pittsburgh Pirates—who all but officially clinched their first National League flag in 33 years Thursday by sweeping the Chicago Cubs 3-2, in 11 innings, and 6-1. No other games were scheduled in the majors.

That gave the Pirates a six-game streak and a 7½-game bulge over second place St. Louis with seven to play while reducing their magic number to two. The Cubs' sweep eliminated third place Milwaukee.

The Yankees, who play their next six games on the road have a 9-7 edge over Boston for the season, but only a 4-4 mark at Fenway Park. Right-hander Bob Turley (8-3) goes for New York tonight against Billy Muffett (6-3), a right-handed NL castoff with a 2-0 record over the Yankees. He beat them 7-1 with a three-hitter at Yankee Stadium in their last meeting.

If the White Sox avoid elimination during a three-game set at Cleveland this weekend and the Orioles hang on during a three-game series at Washington, the Yankees get another chance at the flag when they play three at Washington starting Monday night.

They play their final three games at Yankee Stadium, against Boston, next weekend.

March of Dimes Support Urged by Mother Who Lost Birth Defects Baby in 49 Days

By MARY STROUS

Editor's Note: Mary Strous, young Louisville, Ohio, mother, tells in her own words the tragic story of what happens in a family when a child is born with a serious birth defect.

Our baby Laura was born on Mother's Day seven years ago.

We lost Laura seven weeks later on Father's Day.

She gave a soft little sigh as she died in my arms. My husband and I buried her with the rattle to which she had clung tightly during her brief life.

But Laura, who died of the terrible birth defects known as spina and too much fluid on the brain, still lives in the hearts of her father Don and myself. When asked by strangers, we always say we have three daughters. (Instead of really only two), and I want to explain why.

We feel that each of us, including our tiny Laura, is brought into the world to serve a purpose, even if our stay on earth is as tragically short as 49 days.

For years we were numbed by our baby's passing. But today we recognize that in being asked by The National Foundation to renew our memories of those "despairing" seven weeks, my husband and I are somehow fulfilling the purpose of Laura's fleeting visit with us.

That purpose is to repeat as forcefully as we can the lessons we have learned:

1. Scientists insist that parents should not be ashamed over the birth of an infant with a congenital malformation; instead, face the situation bravely and seek professional advice. Feelings of guilt aren't justified.

2. There is no medical evidence that birth defects are always hereditary; and

3. There is no evidence that because a couple have had one defective baby, they are likely to have another. Doctors at Columbus, Ohio, near our farm at Laurelville, said our chances of having another malformed baby were something like one in 40,000. (Donna Marguerite,

Never will we forget the frantic drive, while our baby was dying, to our church so that she might be baptized before she left us. In some way

Says Bowling Not Much of a Show

By FRED DANZIG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Jackpot Bowling," which made its debut Monday night on NBC-TV, epitomizes the major tyrannies of television.

They've tampered with everything and come up with a show that's nothing.

As emcee, they've taken Milton Berle, a powerhouse comedian, squeezed him into a bowling alley setting, chopped up the time so that he never had a chance to get rolling and effectively destroyed his impact.

Next, they've taken a popular, perfectly good sport, bowling, and made it a TV format. That is, they've got the professional bowlers working at fever pitch, trying to out-strike each other for big money prizes. The players also must compete against the clock, the commercials and Berle.

Monday night, they didn't get a chance to finish the big match because of the need to squeeze in that last commercial. For that matter, Berle couldn't finish a comedy skit because of the need to start that final game.

They've even tampered with the audience. It wasn't a normal bowling alley group, but a brigade of TV stars, all trying to look interested. They tampered with the laughter, too, I suspect.

Berle deserves better. Bowling deserves better. And I think us viewers deserve a little better, too.

Through no fault of its own, the new CBS-TV series, "Pete and Gladys," came alive at the midway point Monday night.

It was all because CBS interrupted the premiere to bring us a bulletin about Cuba's Fidel Castro. Apparently he had stalked out of his hotel, gone to U.N. headquarters and threatened to sleep in the park if he didn't get more economical lodgings.

This bulletin conjured up all sorts of wild premises and, frankly, I enjoyed it infinitely more than I enjoyed "Pete and Gladys."

The filmed comedy spooned out some swan song jokes about mothers-in-law, bad cooking, and neighbors. Harry Morgan and Cara Williams portray Pete and Gladys Porter, and Verna Felton, another refugee from "December Bride," is around, too.

Now if they could get Castro to write their scripts, maybe they'd have something.

If you have thrilled to "The Loretta Young Show," lost your heart to "The June Allyson Show," and maybe sobbed a bit over "My True Story," then welcome to "The Barbara Stanwyck Show."

The debut on NBC-TV Monday night was so much in the soap opera groove that I detected the traditional organ music in the background. The opener dealt with a mink coat that meant everything to Miss Stanwyck, portraying a once-wealthy widow.

But she met a baggage room clerk who once was a big-time magazine editor — he chuckled it all because the rat race was making him more concerned about things than people. He, together with the timely death of Miss Stanwyck's humble neighbor, taught our heroine the true values in life.

Just what TV needs — some romance and escape.

Dialing and Filing: Jack Paar returned from his vacation and began doing his show in color. Or, as they used to say when he was in glorious black-and-white, in "living off-color."

Mort Sahl must be getting comical. Len Weinrib included a Sahl imitation on "The Spike Jones Show." Put him right in there with Jimmy Cagney, Gary Cooper and Marlon Brando.

The Channel Swim: A new day-time series, "Morning Court," makes its debut on ABC-TV Monday.

Strikings — Bunning, Detroit, 1-7; Ramos, Washington, 1-0.

Mary Strous, of Ohio, and daughters Julie Ann, two, and Donna Marguerite, five, study photos of youngest child, Laura, who died of birth defects at seven weeks.

five years old, and Julie Ann, two, who followed Laura after Don and I had reflected deeply and sought advice, could not be healthier or more normal.)

But by no means have Don and I forgotten our hopelessness and indeed our self-loathing during those 49 days and nights when we took turns holding Laura in our arms, or sat, hour after hour beside her bassinet, watching life drain from her eyes.

We detested ourselves because of torments that something was wrong with us physically, or that a shameful defect had been inherited from our forebears (later proved untrue), and that we were thus responsible for this cruelty to an innocent baby.

With a donation in January from each of us, in time there will be many fewer Lauras in our land.

Candidates to Meet in Four Debates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "great debates" on TV between the presidential candidates figure to be something less than full debates and probably something less than great.

In all four confrontations between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy, newsmen and television commentators will be on the nation's screens with them, asking questions.

This is a lot different from watching the two candidates standing face to face, by themselves, pegging arguments at each other. In at least one of the four encounters the candidates will be a continent apart, appearing on split screens.

These meetings will be historic to the degree it will be the first time presidential candidates meet on TV to discuss the issues—no matter how they do the discussing.

The first invitation to the "two men to join in a 'great debate'" came from Robert W. Sarnoff, board chairman of the National Broadcasting Co., after the national political conventions in July.

The result is that all the national TV and radio networks will carry the debates, each lasting an hour.

This is the way they will go: First meeting—Monday, Sept. 26, from Chicago from 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. EDT. The discussion will be on domestic policy.

Each candidate will be given eight minutes as an opener. Then a panel of four TV people will ask one of them a question. He'll get three minutes to answer. Then his opponent gets 1½ minutes to reply.

The panel will then ask the second man a question. He'll get three minutes to answer. His opponent gets 1½ minutes to reply. This will go on until only six minutes remain.

"Today on the Farm," starring Eddy Arnold and commentator Alex Dreier, becomes an NBC-TV Saturday morning feature beginning Saturday, Oct. 1. Taping of a New York Philharmonic concert, with Leonard Bernstein conducting, is taking place in West Berlin this week. The concert will be presented as a CBS-TV special, "Morning Court," this season.

The Channel Swim: A new day-time series, "Morning Court," makes its debut on ABC-TV Monday.

Tito Wants to End the Cold War

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia called on the noncommitted countries in the United Nations to play a greater role in ending the cold war.

Speaking immediately after President Eisenhower, Tito announced that his country gave full and complete support to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's disarmament program unfolded a year ago in the U.N. General Assembly.
